SEXUAL FULFILLMENT – A FOLLOW UP INDUCTION

As you are a healthy, active person it is good to know, it really is possible for you to discover your total sexual abilities.

For like many things, different abilities arrive at different stages of our lives. As we mature we learn new things about our changing self and discover different tastes in music or in food. Perhaps new choices in the type of movies we see or the places we like to see or the places you now like to go? Things change don't they? So do our needs and desires change. As you mature you develop certain attitudes and abilities to use our life experiences to handle situations in new ways – differently than you once had done, and it can be surprising to many to discover, how after so many years, you are now enjoying something, you never thought you would...perhaps an unexpected friendship? Possibly a certain style you had once rejected or maybe yourself in a place you vowed never to be caught dead in! Yet, in the often changing landscape you are seeing...listening to, or be involved with, something you were once determined not to be or do – never knowing how you wouldn't not enjoy doing this very thing – more than you had ever imagined. And as you take another deep relaxing breath you can relax even deeper now, you can trust the unconscious mind, to do whatever it now knows, will be most enjoyable, to do, while the conscious mind, goes deeper and deeper, into a pleasant hypnotic sleep – a vivid dream perhaps, of how opening yourself up to new possibilities can be fun even if it consciously forgot how it turned this reorientation over to the unconscious mind to do on its own – not even telling it of the shifts now made.
